

Coarse leaves do not fully adjust for confounders

Treated and untreated units used to predict for a new unit with test percentile below 69 have different distributions of that confounder.

